VOL. XXVIII.

STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1900, 9 A. M.

NO. 17

NEWS OF THE VICINAGE.

J. W. Sears, of Ulaski, has a ginseng nursery.

The Boyle county grand jury found only four indictments.

Logan Reeder, one of Casey's most substantial citizens, is dead, aged 75.

James Murphy has been appointed postmaster at Chio, Whitley county.

Linsley is a new postoffice in Bell county, with C. C. Smith postmaster.

The Kentuckian says about half the children of London have the whooping cough.

In a drunken row at East Bernstadt, Milton Williams was shot in the neck by Bill Lee.

Craig Thomason got a leg cut off while trying to get on a freight train near Mt. Vernon.

James Beattie Gilmore, a well known citizen of Somerset, died suddenly of heart disease last week.

Corda Cade, of the Joppa section of Adair, was killed by a shot gun exploding when he fired it.

Mr. Gilbert has secured a position in the pension department for Thomas Holloway, of Jessamine.

The property of the Richmond Electric Light Co. will be sold by the master commissioner July 10.

John Goode, of Hustonville, had a valuable Norman mare to fall into an old well and die from the effects.

The London Kentuckian's third page is devoted to East Bernstadt items, under the head of "The East Bernstadt Progress."

Lebanon is to have a republican paper. Messrs. Hartley and Hanes, two Indiana men, and K. C. Stanford, of Lebanon, will run it.

The engine of a freight train became uncontrollable going down the hill to Somerset, crashing into the yards and wrecking three engines and 10 cars.

Editor Albright's editorial on the good that Christian Endeavor Societies do, in the last issue of the Mt. Vernon Signal, is good enough for Sunday reading.

The Knox Gem Coal Co. is the name of a new mining company in Knox county. It has a capital stock of $12,000 and has recently bought 400 acres of coal lands of Hunker John A. Black.

The second jury in the case of Doc Lowry charged with criminal assault on Mrs. Millions in Madison, was discharged Friday, standing as the first, 11 for hanging to one for 20 years. It was reported that a mob was coming for Lowry and he prayed all night Thursday. He has been taken to Lexington for safe keeping, till September, court.

In Madison county, George Alcorn, aged 18, while handling a loaded pistol, accidentally shot and killed his father, Irvine Alcorn, who was standing near. An operation was performed with the hope of saving his life, but the wounded man died a few hours later. He was a well-known farmer, about 50 years old and leaves a wife and 10 children.

A FOLLOWER OF MEASLES.—In many instances a persistent cough follows an attack of measles. In speaking of this Mr. Walter H. Peet, editor of the Elkin, N. C., Times, says: "Three weeks ago I had an attack of measles which left me with a bad cough. I took several doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the cough has entirely disappeared. I consider Chamberlain's medicine the best on the market." For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

LANCASTER.

Rice Bengo sold a gadding to a Mercer county party at $120.

Strange to say, but a great rivalry is going on here between a coal merchant and the county clerk. I may explain later.

The local K. P. lodge will give a banquet at the Garrard on May 18th. Adjoining lodges will be well represented and a royal time is expected.

In the republican call for county conventions a bid is put out for "all lovers of civil liberty to attend." That class would be out of place in such a crowd.

F. J. Campbell has lost none of his journalistic ability, which is evinced by the bright columns and the beautiful make-up of the Somerset Journal.

The entertainment by Harry Leonard, wife, little daughter and home talent will be given under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, and it should be liberally patronized.

I suggest that the National democrats make a short platter, approving the Declaration of Independence, the Federal constitution, opposing imperialism, trusts and protective tariff and quit right there. Other issues will care for themselves.

The Cincinnati Post refers to my statement in last issue that 25 men in this town will weigh over 300 pounds and adds the word "each," which I did not use. I baited for suckers and caught them. Twenty five of the least men in town will weigh over 300 pounds. They would only be required to weigh 12 pounds each.

G. M. Patterson and little daughter, Helen, represented Lancaster at the L. O. O. F. celebration at Corbin. Mrs. J. H. Simpson has been sick, but she is recovering. Allen Traylor is happy over the birth of a 10 pound son. An impromptu hop was given at the Simpson House on Friday night, which was highly enjoyed by about 15 couples.

A burglar entered Mr. A. C. Robinson's house, near Gilbert Creek, last Thursday night, took his clothes out of the house and left them and the contents scattered around, except his pocketbook and $15, which he carried away. Mr. Robinson had left his door unlocked for the first time in six months, but he will not do so again. Take warning.

Messrs. J. N. Denny, L. F. Hubble, G. T. Higginbotham and Nick Perkins have been over the survey for the proposed extension of the Southern railroad, and they report that the right-of-way can be purchased at a price in the reach of the people and all they have to do is to raise the money. Proceedings will have to be instituted in one or two cases, in which the charge is excessive.

Richard Walter was here last week. Capt. Louis Landrum will go to Lexington this week. T. C. Gulley will go to Denver, Col., Tuesday, for his health. Senator G. T. Harris is at home for a short time. Hon. R. H. Tomlinson has returned from Kansas City, and he has good prospects to dispose of his property there at a good price. He says that the West will go overwhelmingly for Bryan. Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Fuller are in Casey county visiting her father, who is in poor health.

CHURCHES AND PREACHERS.

John D. Rockefeller, the multi-millionaire, has a Sunday school class of 63.

Elder A. J. Langerty will preach at Pine Grove next Sunday at 11 o'clock A. M.

Rev. R. B. Mahony preached at the Baptist church at Harrodsburg Sunday.

Louisville has 200 churches valued at $6,000,000, and 13 banks with a capital of $10,000,000.

London women have placed missionary boxes in all the stores in town to secure money for the starving in India.

Charlie E. Cox now assists the choir of the Methodist church with his violin, making no little improvement in the music.

George West, of Danville, secured the contract for building the new Methodist church at Elizabethtown. It will cost $10,500—Advocate.

Dr. E. O. Guerrant, writing to a friend in this city, said in answer to a question, that during his winter vacation to the South he had preached 100 times; 300 persons had joined the Presbyterian church and many others had joined other churches.

In answer to the question of the Louisville Post, Revs. E. M. Green, E. O. Guerrant, Wm. Crow and many other Presbyterian preachers say the Westmister Confession of Faith is good enough for them and that they are opposed to making a change for Bro. Hills' benefit.

BRAYE MEN FALL.

Weakness to stomach, liver and kidney troubles of all sorts, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, etc. But there's no need to be like that. W. Gardner, Louisville, Ind. He says "Electric Bitter" are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only $1.00 at Penny's Drug Store. Every bottle guaranteed.

WORKING NIGHT AND DAY.—The boldest and mightiest little thing that ever was made is Dr. King's New Life Pill. Every pill is a sugar coated globule of health which changes weakness into strength, poisons into energy, brain fat into animal power. They're wonderful in building up the health. Only 25c per box. Sold by Penny, Druggist.

Knight Baeret, selling 12 to 1, won the Turf Congress Handicap at Louisville Saturday. F. W. Brode, a Derby candidate, sulked and would not run.

Lawrence Hatt, of Rockcastle, has a pig with seven toes on one foot.

WANTS THE TAIL TO WAG.

CEDAR CREEK, April 30.—Admit the Goebel law to be the very best of all the best laws, yet the people don't seem to want it and that is the very best of all the best arguments for its repeal.

(By "the people" we suppose is meant the republicans and soreheads.

Those who voted for Gov. Goebel are not tearing their shirts for its repeal, though as far as we are concerned we do not care one way or another, except we always think it is right to oppose to the way your enemy desires.)

A good engineer is always glad to find out how to avoid rough places in his first survey, and will sometimes get a boy who does not seem to know a B from Bill's foot, to show them to him, and he has been known to finally run his road through a town 10 miles off the first route.

Gov. Bradley is in Washington to file a brief in the Taylor case.

N. B. Scott was sent as Senator from West Virginia, with only three votes against him.

Gov. Heckham was welcomed to Bardstown with a royal ovation, on his first visit since his inauguration.

It has been arranged at Washington that John W. Lewis shall be the republican candidate for Congress in the 7th district.

The Goebel law will be repealed when the viva voce form of voting is restored to the people by constitutional amendment.—Owensboro Messenger.

Gov. Plingree, of Michigan, although an independent republican, says that the hope of the people is this year's general elections is in the democratic party.

The House committee on labor decided to report favorably the bill providing that eight hours shall hereafter constitute a day's work on all government contracts.

June Gayle will not be a candidate for re-election to Congress. He evidently seen the hand writing on the wall that Trimble is to represent the 7th district after next March.

In his memorial day speech, at Atlanta, Gov. Candier roundly scored republican "fanatics" and denounced the "unholy war in the Philippines" and the "vassalage in Porto Rico."

Mayor H. C. Ford is trying to run Middlesboro "as Christ would run it," and begins by shutting off the Sunday milk wagons. Bob is evidently out of politics permanently.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Virginia is taking steps towards holding a constitutional convention to disenfranchise the ignorant Negro. As such action would also disenfranchise the ignorant white voter, it is to be hoped she will succeed.

Troy Bradley says he takes it that if the supreme court holds that it has no jurisdiction, Taylor will remain the de facto governor till the next election. Gov. Heckham will show him a thing or two about that.

H. S. Irwin, who was railroad commissioner of this district, was nominated for Congress to the Louisville district, and P. M. Baker and Collector Saenger were named as delegates to the National convention.

Col. Hill is the most eloquent and apt, the most impressive and charming speaker whom it has been my fortune to hear, and I have been around some.

But every good speech he ever made, put together, can't express the sincere friendship and love that one wag of his old dog Rock's tail expresses, even if he has been suspected of having been among Foster's sheep. I feel like we should ask Col. Hill's pardon for calling Rock's name in connection with politics; it seems a little hard on Rock, if he does so, but we don't mean it that way.

W. P. WALTON.

If anything can make a totally depraved man, as we Methodists call them, forsake his sins and love the Lord, a skim through the heart of the blue grass on the splendidly equipped Queen & Crescent at this season of the year will do especially if he has those princes of the bell cords, Condoctors Ed A. Sherman to take him thither and Ben G. McGraw to bring him back. The trees are running a good natured race to see which can get its full foliage first, the pink of the peach blossoms intermingled with the white of the cherry and the variegated of the apple, vie with each other in beauty, while the hills and dales carpeted with the greenest of blue grass, or covered with waving wheat, unite to make a picture that would have thrown the beauty of the garden of Eden in the shade and made Adam and Eve ashamed that they were not given better facilities for love making and finer orchards from which to choose the forbidden fruit. The blue grass farmer is indeed one of the elect and if with every prospect so pleasing he still is vile, he deserves to be banished to bleak Siberia or transported to the Dry Tortugas. Or if that be not punishment sufficient, to be made to till the hills along the line in Harrison, Grant and Boone counties.

It is remarkable what a difference a few hundred miles makes in the progress of vegetation. Up in Ohio we found leafless trees and bleak looking fields, with only here and there an indication that the spring has come. But that's not God's country up there and He wastes no smiles upon it. Cincinnati seems to be an exemplification of the fact that the wicked prosper in spite of their wickedness. At any rate everybody there seems on the run and bent on letting the devil get the hindmost first. Merchants say that trade is unusually good and the builders are as hard at work as if material hadn't gone up 100 per cent. They were laying the corner stone with mortar spread with a gold trowel for a 20 story sky scraper, corner Main and 4th, Saturday and bidding a box of treasure and other things for the men to get, who in half a century may tear the building down to make one twice as high. While in the city we enjoyed a number of courtesies from friends, but none that we appreciated and enjoyed more than a splendidly prepared luncheon with Manager F. B. Berry, of the American Type Founders Co., at the dining rooms of the Business Men's Club. Our visit to the city was for the purpose of interviewing Mr. Berry on type and presses in general and to see the new two revolution press in action. It is a marvel of ingenious construction and does its work like a thing of life but is a grim looking, unbeautiful machine and is about as big as all out doors.

On the train from Cincinnati were Attorney T. C. Campbell and Wharton Golde, leading counsel against the assassination conspirators and the star witness against them. Campbell is a portly man of medium height and not near so large or so savage looking as George Denny, whom he called a liar recently in the court room at Frankfort. Golden is a slim young man of rather a mild cast of countenance and but for the large hat he wears, one wouldn't take him for a mountaineer. Both got off at Georgetown.

A visit to the Houses of Reform disclosed the fact that the Bradley cottage and the cottage for the girls are fast approaching completion, the latter likely to be turned over to the State in two weeks. These buildings should have been completed last October, but delay in getting material, bad weather and other excuses known to the trade have caused the trouble and will likely cost the contractors a big forfeit. The word cottage might convey to the average mind that they are small buildings, but not so. The Bradley cottage will furnish sleeping, eating, school and other apartments for 100 boys and the girls' cottage can take care of 50 in a similar way. These buildings are splendid structures and modern in all their apartments, and built in such a manner as to defy criticism from even invidious grand juries. Supt. E. H. Doak tells us that he now has an even 100 boys, 64 whites and 36 colored, and that he keeps them busy in the several departments, on the farm and in the school room. The farm has 40 acres of fine timothy for hay, 30 acres of beautiful wheat, 10 in Irish potatoes, 10 for sweet potatoes, 5 in cabbage, 4 in tomatoes, with acres of peas, beans, onions and other vegetables, all looking well. Sunday morning all the boys were in their new blue uniforms and military caps and looked above the average in intelligence. Sunday school is held at 10:30, when Mrs. Doak presides at the organ and teaches each pupil to sing. The music they make is fairly good and all sing with earnestness. There is preaching in the afternoon by volunteer ministers from Lexington and other places, Rev. J. S. Sims, formerly of Stanford, frequently aiding in the good work.

Lexington, nestled in its heavenly surroundings, is lovelier than usual in its sleepy indolence. The capital of the blue grass is simply an overgrown country town, where those who can afford it, and most of them can, spend their lives in ease and luxury, forgetting that tomorrow they die. Beautiful residences, with green carpeted lawns, smelling with flowers, abound, and pretty women and fast horses maintain the reputation of Kentucky in those respects. The new court house is magnificent within and without, an immense tobacco factory, nearly complete, strikes the eye on entering the city from the South and other handsome buildings indicate that, though sluggish, there is still life in the old town, made famous by Henry Clay and Billy Breckinridge, along different lines, however. It is delightful to one accustomed to the rush and push of Stanford to spend a quiet day in Lexington and rest with the resters, the world forgetting and almost by the world forgot.

The Louisville Post, which seems to be Taylor's keeper, says: "The Goebelites are trying desperately to convince themselves that Gov. Taylor is frightened and will not return to Kentucky. The purpose of these publications is so plain that they are convincing the public that their only hope of damaging the republican party is in keeping Taylor from a trial. It is a vain hope. Gov. Taylor will stand trial and he is unambiguously vindicated." How a man endowed with any reasoning power can make such an assertion as the above is hard to understand except upon the hypothesis that he has been bought for a bribe and lies to suit his purchaser. If Editor Knott knows that Taylor is not guilty he knows who is and ought to be summoned as a witness and made to tell his name. Every circumstance, together with the testimony of his accomplices point to the guilt of Taylor and until a court of competent jurisdiction says he is innocent of participation in the crime of the century honest people will continue to believe him so, no matter how much he and his hired spellers may swear and protest. Let Taylor be made to stand trial like any other individual accused of crime and let his punishment be commensurate with it, if the evidence justify it, no matter who or what is damned.

There is now no doubt about the right of Judge R. J. Breckinridge to the office of attorney general and the gallant and brainy old war horse can read his title clear both as de facto and de jure attorney general. Judge Pratt, who decided several days ago to give up the contest, failed to give the requisite supersedesas bond to do so by midnight Friday and he is now as much out as the others will be in a few days. He knew the case was hopeless and believing a good lawyer was sensible enough to get out before being kicked out. As we first suggested Judge Breckinridge for the office, we of course rejoice and are exceedingly glad to know that he has at last gotten his deserts and will hereafter get his pay.

It is said that Judge Cantrill's order requiring the telegraph company to produce all the dispatches sent by the conspirators will disclose the fact that Taylor had sent messages to military officers in advance of the assassination to bring their companies and that he sent one to a friend at his old home to come and bring 200 men with him. No wonder the chief of the conspirators and the procurer of assassination should flee with his guilty conscience in the attempt to save his neck that has too long cheated the halter.

The brief filed by the attorneys in the Taylor contest before the supreme court reads more like a stump speech, delivered by an irresponsible orator to an ignorant republican audience, than a legal paper addressed to the highest court in the land. It is a conglomeration of false allegations, pitiful pleas and foolish reasoning and its perpetrators should be fined for contempt and kicked out of court. It oughtn't to take the judges as long as it takes to put on their gowns to decide that Taylor has no case in law or in equity.

The Lexington Leader celebrated the 12th anniversary of its establishment Sunday by printing a photographic reproduction of its first issue on May 1, 1888. The paper has been a pronounced success from its birth and is a gold mine for its clever owner, Samuel J. Roberts, said to be one of the very best all around newspaper men in the United States. One of his printers told us once that he knew every detail of his business and could at a glance at a piece of copy, tell just how many ems were in it to a word.

The Mayville Ledger says that republicans have no rights in Kentucky except the right to pay taxes and to die. They have the right to pay taxes of course, but in this neck of the woods they do not embrace it very unanimously. Most of them prefer to ignore it and have the sheriff return them delinquent. Neither do they seem to appreciate the right to die, judging by the way they continue to encumber the earth.

A PROMINENT republican says that Taylor will not run for governor this fall, if the supreme court decision is against him. Well hardly. A man can not run very well in a prison cell.

PERFECT weather conditions have prevailed for a week and May day dawns brightly and promises to be a typical one. It is getting quite dry, however, and the dust in some places is several inches thick.

ELIJAH MOORE, of Liberty, brother of Mrs. Ed Wilkinson, of this place, has bought the mail route from Moreland to Liberty and is now in possession and is operating the back line back and forth daily. Mr. King, former owner, has gone to farming.

SALE.—Waverly Hamilton has sold to his father, Isaac Hamilton, the Tim Pennington farm of 97½ acres, near Rowland, for $6,000. There is on the place a good brick house and the other improvements are fair. It is likely Waverly will return to his first love—railroading; at which he is a success.

OUR boys met a Waterloo at Lancaster Friday afternoon, when the base ball team of that place defeated them by a score of 12 to 8. Harry Higgins struck out 15 men and was well caught by George Florence, but their support was bad and they lost as above stated. The Lancaster team will likely play here Friday afternoon.

CENTRE COLLEGE beat the University of Indiana 13 to 4 in a game of base ball at Danville Friday afternoon. Several from Stanford saw the game, which was a very poor one.

WHAT do you think of the brief as synoptically given in the papers today?" was asked of Lawyer C. C. Williams, of Mt. Vernon, who was on Sunday's train returning from Lexington. "It is nothing more than the kind of a stamp speech one might expect a republican to make to a partisan audience on Brush creek, with no democrat to answer him. I am surprised that reputable lawyers should offer such a thing to the highest court, even with as bad a case as Taylor has."

ROBBINS.—Mr. R. B. Woods' room at his son's, Mr. E. P. Woods', was entered Saturday night and Mr. Woods' pocket book containing $2.50 in cash, a $42 check and valuable papers stolen. A drawer containing some papers was also missing but a search of the premises found all of the above. Including the cash, in the garden. It is supposed that the thief got scared and dropped his load in his effort to escape. The bloodhounds were taken to the scene early Sunday morning but they failed to trace the scoundrel. Mr. Woods thinks some one well acquainted with the situation did the work and he will spare no energy in bringing him to justice.

OUR Goebel monument fund was swelled $12.25 yesterday by Mr. B. W. Givens, our humble committeeman, who headed in the following list. Those who contributed $1 each are: Mrs. Eliza Harris, T. C. Rankin, L. G. Huber, George T. Wood, J. C. Eubanks, M. H. Eubanks, W. H. Underwood, Col. Underwood, R. L. Huble and B. W. Givens. Those who gave 50 cents each are John Underwood, Thos. McMillan and Charles Winters; 25 cents each George W. Givens, James W. Brackett and James E. Harris. We hope our friends will not let the good work lag. This county ought at least to contribute $200 whereas we have less than $125.

CUT WITH A RAZOR.—Dink Farmer and Tom Gill, who have been at odds for some time, got together on the Somerset pike near J. W. Baughman's Saturday morning and as a result Farmer has two ugly gashes in his side and breast about four inches long and Gill a swollen head. The latter used a razor and while the cuts he made on Mr. Farmer look dangerous enough to kill, Dr. W. B. O'Bannon, who dressed them, says unless something unexpected happens the clever candidate for jailor will soon be all right. He says that Gill overtook him and after a few words threw his hand behind him and brought out the razor and that he used what rocks he could find to the best advantage possible. Finally they clinched and it was during this that the wounds were inflicted. Gill took to his heels, but was soon caught by Deputy Sheriff C. B. Owens and Jack Beazley, when he was taken before Judge Bailey, who set his trial for yesterday. He failed to give the bond of $150 and laid in jail. Yesterday the trial was postponed to await the ability of Mr. Farmer to attend.

H. CLAY HUNT, known and liked by everybody in this section, will become one of the proprietors of the well-known wholesale grocery house of Pearson & Clark, Lexington, June 1, he, Messrs. Al. G. and Roger Bryan and a Mr. Day, of Winchester, having bought the firm's business. Both of the Bryans, like Mr. Hunt, have been drummers for the above house for years. Mr. Hunt will continue his trips to Stanford and other towns in his territory, our merchants and others will be glad to know.

Over five square miles of territory burned over; more than 2,000 buildings destroyed, seven lives lost, 7,000 men, women and children homeless and property loss of $17,000,000 are the results of the destructive fire which swept Ottawa, Ont., and Hull, which was raging when we went to press Friday.

A Princeton, Ind., man, whose son has been wrecked by liquor, has sued four saloon keepers for $5,000 damages. He claims that they have been selling intoxicants to his son since he was nine years old and that he has incurred great expense for fines and costs on account of disorderly conduct of the son when intoxicated.

The Sultan of Turkey is a pretty shrewd old chap. He has not only agreed to rebuild the destroyed American structures, but have a cruiser built in the United States, the cost to include the money indemnity demanded. In this way he hopes to avoid giving European powers a pretext for pressing their claims.

Writing on the birthday of Gen. Grant, Col. Breckinridge says in the Lexington Herald: Today we desire to recall only two illustrations of the basal qualities of bis manhood. During a war of unexampled opportunity for plunder; for partnership with devious men in devous ways, and with almost supreme power, he was absolutely honest; his personal integrity was beyond question. When President Johnson urged the arrest of Robert E. Lee, which arrest would have been in violation of the parole granted by Grant to Lee, he risked his commission to prevent dishonor; he was loyal to his soldierly word and by this act of stalwart veracity—in the high sense of veracity, he gave protection to every pro-Confederate soldier. It is not strange, therefore, that all Confederates have held him in grateful esteem. He was more than a skillful general; he was greater than a successful commander; he was nobler than a brave soldier. And today every Confederate soldier gladly unites in keeping green his memory and doing fresh honor to his name.
